QUALITY POLICY

It is our objective to only market and support products and services of quality that will merit and earn customer satisfaction by performing or exceeding customer expectations reliably and effectively.

AMI-CON will only commit to supplying products and services from companies which hold the relevant quality approvals and quality management systems required by our customers and as set out in our Quality Manual.

Continued investment in both systems and production facilities, in conjunction with the long-term extensions to key distribution agreements will prove instrumental as part of our continuous improvement objective. Further to this investment and commitment AMI-CON will continue to maintain our accreditations to; ISO 9001:2015 & EN 9120:2018. This objective will enable AMI-CON to continue to deliver a complete service to the highest quality standard with the approval to supply primes and tier 1's within the aerospace and defence sectors for both the manufacture & distribution of products and services.

AMI-CON shall make known this policy to all employees ensuring they are aware of its importance and that we, the company, will continue to monitor our ability to carry out and meet the system requirements and company objectives, as laid out in our Quality Manual.
